

2018-2019 BREAKTHROUGH AMBASSADOR

As a Breakthrough teaching fellow alumnus/a, you have experienced first-hand the rewards and rigors of teaching. You know how invigorating it is to stand in front of a classroom of students, how satisfying it is to witness them accomplish so much in a few short weeks, and how real the need for Breakthrough is. When you return to your campus this fall, you can continue to have an impact by inspiring the next generation of teaching fellows. Become a Breakthrough ambassador.

The Opportunity

As a Breakthrough ambassador, you will join a network of teaching fellow alumni committed to building a movement of undergraduates passionate about educational equity. You will develop new skills that are critical for success in any profession. The six-month ambassadorship offers the following:

- Professional skill development in relationship management, communication, and strategic thinking
- Ongoing support from Breakthrough's national recruitment staff
- Opportunities to build relationships with Breakthrough teaching fellow alumni and staff, and network with partner organizations
- The ability to stay connected to Breakthrough during the academic year, without an intensive time commitment

As part of a network of alumni dedicated to building the strongest movement possible, you will work with Breakthrough's national staff on exciting projects, such as:

- Promoting the Breakthrough teaching residency and building the Breakthrough movement on your campus
- Sharing your Breakthrough experience with students, staff, and faculty
- Networking and building relationships with student leaders
- Researching partnership opportunities

The stories you tell, the work you do, and the connections you make on your campus will ultimately impact the lives of thousands of Breakthrough students next summer.

"It felt wonderful to spread the word about Breakthrough, develop personal connections with applicants, and help others have the same amazing experience that is Breakthrough." – Breakthrough ambassador
